FROM your PRESIDENT by Bill Sax

Greetings CCI,

What the heck happened? Is the Summer over? It feels like it just got here & the Fall happened. A real quick Fall. Rita & I are spending November in the Texas Hill Country, just north of San Antonio. I told her it would be warmer here than in the St. Louis area. Well I guess technically it's warmer. It was 10 degrees at home & dipped down to 28 for us. The ice storm covering CC in a sheet of ice was not what I was expecting.

Fortunately, it warmed up & all the ice melted. It's been interesting, we have always RVed in the heat. The cold makes it challenging. AquaHot or heat pumps, decisions, decisions. But we have hooked up with some friends & did some sightseeing, Winery tours even a couple of distilleries. And we made it to the Wurstfest in New Braunfels. That was fun. We have been driveway surfing, camping in a friend's driveway, with 50 amp! So, costs are down. Plus, they are wine connoisseurs, so we have had great evenings on their patio.

We plan on bouncing around here for awhile then head towards Louisiana & New Orleans in December. We are going to spend our first winter in the Orlando area. We are officially Snowbirds!

CCI has some great rallies planned so check them out. One of the benefits of this club is the comradery & sharing of knowledge for the magnificent coaches. So, find a rally & come join us.

Hope y'all have a great Thanksgiving.

We'll be CCing you on the road.

The First Thanksgiving

By: Albert F. Blaisdell

The First Thanksgiving was published in Short Stories from American History (1905) by Blaisdell & Ball. Their story of the 1621 Plymouth celebration portrays historical events in a brief, appealing format for young children

ALL through the first summer and the early part of autumn the Pilgrims were busy and happy. They had planted and cared for their first fields of corn. They had found wild strawberries in the meadows, raspberries on the hillsides, and wild grapes in the woods. In the forest just back of the village wild turkeys and deer were easily shot. In the shallow waters of the bay there was plenty of fish, clams, and lobsters.

The summer had been warm, with a good deal of rain and much sunshine; and so when the autumn came there was a fine crop of corn.

“Let us gather the fruits of our first labours and rejoice together,” said Governor Bradford.

“Yes,” said Elder Brewster, “let us take a day upon which we may thank God for all our blessings, and invite to it our Indian friends who have been so kind to us.”

The Pilgrims said that one day was not enough; so they planned to have a celebration for a whole week. This took place most likely in October.

The great Indian chief, Massasoit, came with ninety of his bravest warriors, all gayly dressed in deerskins, feathers, and foxtails, with their faces smeared with red, white, and yellow paint.

As a sign of rank, Massasoit wore round his neck a string of bones and a bag of tobacco. In his belt he carried a long knife. His face was painted red, and his hair was so daubed with oil that Governor Bradford said he “looked greasily.”

Now there were only eleven buildings in the whole of Plymouth village, four log storehouses and seven little log dwelling-houses; so the Indian guests ate and slept out of doors. This was no matter, for it was one of those warm weeks in the season we call Indian summer.

To supply meat for the occasion four men had already been sent out to hunt wild turkeys. They killed enough in one day to last the whole company almost a week.

Massasoit helped the feast along by sending some of his best hunters into the woods. They killed five deer, which they gave to their paleface friends, that all might have enough to eat.

Under the trees were built long, rude tables on which were piled baked clams, broiled fish, roast turkey, and deer meat.

The young Pilgrim women helped serve the food to the hungry redskins.

Let us remember two of the fair girls who waited on the tables. One was Mary Chilton, who leaped from the boat at Plymouth Rock; the other was Mary Allerton. She lived for seventy-eight years after this first Thanksgiving, and of those who came over in the Mayflower she was the last to die.

What a merry time everybody had during that week! It may be they joked Governor Bradford about stepping into a deer trap set by the Indians and being jerked up by the leg.

How the women must have laughed as they told about the first Monday morning at Cape Cod, when they all went ashore to wash their clothes!

The First Thanksgiving

It must have been a big washing, for there had been no chance to do it at sea, so stormy had been the long voyage of sixty-three days. They little thought that Monday would afterward be kept as washday.

Then there was young John Howland, who in mid-ocean fell overboard but was quick enough to catch hold of a trailing rope. Perhaps after dinner he invited Elizabeth Tilley, whom he afterward married, to sail over to Clarke's Island and return by moonlight.

With them, it may be, went John Alden and Priscilla Mullins, whose love story is so sweetly told by Longfellow.

One proud mother, we may be sure, showed her bright-eyed boy, Peregrine White.

And so the fun went on. In the daytime the young men ran races, played games, and had a shooting match. Every night the Indians sang and danced for their friends; and to make things still more lively they gave every now and then a shrill war whoop that made the woods echo in the still night air.

The Indians had already learned to love and fear Captain Miles Standish. Some of them called him "Boiling Water" because he was easily made angry. Others called him "Captain Shrimp," on account of his small size.

Every morning the shrewd captain put on his armour and paraded his little company of a dozen or more soldiers; and when he fired off the cannon on Burial Hill the Indians must have felt that the English were men of might thus to harness up thunder and lightning

During this week of fun and frolic it was a wonder if young Jack Billington did not play some prank on the Indians. He was the boy who fired off his father's gun one day, close to a keg of gunpowder, in the crowded cabin of the Mayflower.

The third day came. Massasoit had been well treated, and no doubt would have liked to stay longer, but he had said he could stay only three days. So the pipe of peace was silently passed around.

Then, taking their presents of glass beads and trinkets, the Indian king and his warriors said farewell to their English friends and began their long tramp through the woods to their wigwams on Mount Hope Bay.

On the last day of this Thanksgiving party the Pilgrims had a service of prayer and praise. Elder Brewster preached the first Thanksgiving sermon. After thanking God for all his goodness, he did not forget the many loved ones sleeping on the hillside.

He spoke of noble John Carver, the first governor, who had died of worry and overwork.

Nor was Rose Standish forgotten, the lovely young wife of Captain Miles Standish, whose death was caused by cold and lack of good food.

And then there was gentle Dorothy, wife of Governor Bradford, who had fallen overboard from the Mayflower in Provincetown harbour while her husband was coasting along the bleak shore in search of a place for a home.

The first Thanksgiving took place nearly three hundred years ago. Since that time, almost without interruption, Thanksgiving has been kept by the people of New England as the great family festival of the year. At this time children and grandchildren return to the old home, the long table is spread, and brothers and sisters, separated often by many miles, again sit side by side.

To-day Thanksgiving is observed in nearly all the states of the Union, a season of sweet and blessed memories.

Wintering in your Motorhome

Technical Bulletin

Compiled from the Country Coach Tech Topics site by Mike Cebula

Wintering in Your Motorcoach by Mark Layton

I meet people all the time that don't understand that you can use your coach to go skiing or whatever you like to do in the winter at temperatures below freezing. I have been skiing out of a motorhome since 1970 and thought that I would like to pass on some of the things that I have learned.

First of all, we are very fortunate to own a coach now that is really well insulated that makes things easier. You do have to remember that coach manufacturers don't put a lot of priority into making sure that nothing freezes, since most of their sales are to people that go to warm climates. When I ordered my last coach, a 2000 Magna with a kitchen slide and heated floor, I made sure that certain things were done before I took delivery. The nice thing is that all of these can be done to any coach and at any time.

Besides what was done at the factory I had my tires siped* which really helps a lot. You are going to say what the heck is that. That is exactly what I said when I first heard about it from a highway patrol officer in Idaho. One day I was talking to the officer and asked what kind of chains they use. His answer was, "We don't use chains; we have our tires siped and therefore don't need chains." So I went to Les Schwab in Junction City and asked them about it and was told that most of the truckers have their tires siped for better traction. Since then I found that my tires wear better because they run cooler, and I have much better traction on slick or wet roads.

The freeze protection that all manufacturers put in your coach is fine up to a point. It takes care of the water and holding tanks but not the water pump. Since the water pump is at the lowest point of your service bay it will freeze if you don't give it some extra protection. There is a very small 12 volt heater available and I had that installed and hooked up to the thermostat which takes care of the freeze protection in the service bay.

Your hot and cold water lines will also need protection if you have a kitchen slide. We heat taped all the water lines going to the slide and put insulation around them. The other thing to remember is that your refrigerator has a water line that goes to the icemaker. This line is plastic and you have to replace it with copper tubing before you can heat tape it as the plastic line will fail from the heat tape. (I found this out the hard way). These are things you should do before going to really cold climate. Other things you will need when you get there are some 60 watt light bulbs, three or four small electric heaters and a good snow shovel. Even though we don't travel when it is snowing any more it is nice to be able to keep your place clean around the coach. We found that since I am retired we don't have to travel when the weather or roads are bad so that is not a problem anymore. I do carry a set of chains just in case but have not used them since we got the Magna.

You ask what in the world are the light bulbs for? They are to plug into your bays. I get the light bulb attachments that have a socket on one side and two prongs on the other so you can plug them into any outlet. Usually the 60 watt bulbs are enough to keep things from freezing in your bays.

Just about all the places we go have 50 amp hook ups. I put one of the electric heaters in the service bay and one in the bay that has the water filter. I found that at 25 below things will freeze even with the light bulbs going. As far as the service bay is concerned, you would not have to use the heater but why burn your propane or diesel if you have power available. The heaters in the outside bays are plugged into a 30 amp cord with the right adapter that is available at all camping stores. All the hook ups that I have seen have a 50 and 30 amp outlet. I use both the 50 amp for the coach and the 30 amp for the heaters. That way I don't overload the breakers in the coach. I also use two electric heaters in the coach to cut down on my cost for diesel or propane and having to move the coach for refueling.

The other thing that is a must is to protect your cooling unit of your refrigerator. The manufacturer of the refrigerator tells you that all you have to do is to turn the switch on which keeps the light on inside the refrigerator. I found that not to be good enough in real cold weather. I use the foam insulating tubing that they use for water pipe and cut it to the right length and cover all but one row of the outside vents. Then I also put a light bulb in the area where the cooling unit is to keep it from freezing. No matter what someone may tell you, I have seen too many cooling units freeze and have to be replaced. Two years ago when we had a real cold spell in Breckenridge the service truck replaced at least five or six units in one day at the cost of about $2000.00 each. Mine was not one of these needing replaced; it was working fine--and still is.

Now what to do about filling with fresh water and dumping. I see a lot of people making up and using water hoses with heat tape and insulation. I also see the problems they have some of the time with the faucets freezing because they are designed to drain back and are not freeze proof when the water is left on. I fill with water and dump when I need to and empty the hoses and put them away till I need them again. I do it this way so as to eliminate any chance of problems. Since we usually go to the hot tub after a hard day of skiing and take our showers there, we don't use a lot of water and therefore don't have to fill and dump that often.

Wintering in your Motorhome

Sometimes we do dry camp in the winter when we know that it is not going to get too cold. Then you have to be prepared to run your generator more often. If you have a kitchen slide bring it in at night, when temperatures are at their lowest, so that your furnace will keep everything in good working order.

After I retired, we went to Tiger Run RV Resort in Breckenridge, Colorado for longer periods of time and found that there we're only a hand full of RVers there in the winter. Today there are at least 50 to 75 RVs there all winter long. Tiger Run has an indoor pool, hot tubs and clubhouse. We even have wine and cheese parties every Wednesday evening all winter long. We also found that there are quite a few RV parks near ski areas that are open in the winter.

You will find that if you are prepared and do the things that I have been talking about you will enjoy your coach just as much in the winter as in the summer!

History of 3R RV

Jimmie started out working for Byerly in 1981. Jimmie was frustrated in his position as service manager because he was unable to help long time customers, because sales kept the shop so busy there wasn't room or time. So in October 2005, 3R RV was conceived. We knew we did not want to sell anything, we just wanted to help folks stay in their current unit and help keep them maintained. We met with Frank Reed who was looking to semi-retire from the RV business, came to an agreement and we opened our doors December 1st, 2005. We owe our success to all of you, for spreading the word about 3R RV and the great service our technicians provide. Our Technicians are RVIA Certified. We strive to do our best, but we are not perfect and when we make a mistake, we hope you give us the chance to make it right. We can't fix what we don't know about.

We started this business because the wait time to get in was months at dealers and we are finding that we are so busy we are weeks out, a month if its major repair. This is not acceptable to us that is why we are looking to hire 1-2 more technicians or anyone with construction background. Do you know of anyone that loves helping customers, likes learning and looking for a career with benefits, if so have them call 636-583-2244 and ask for Christina Reynolds. If they have a good work ethic we can teach them the rest.
